Please read the attached PDF, I feel that it is a very workable solution to perceived differences between us.
Later, we can discuss any part that you feel needs amendment.
Sincerely,

Hi David,
Please take a few minutes to look this over - it is 5 hours older then the one that comes after this. Your father has received this. I am asking for your permission/advice before sending the next one.

Jeremy, you are on a witch hunt, nothing less. Let everything come out in therapy sessions. Let dad speak for himself. Let's start these sessions. NOW. NOW. Enough delay.

All of a sudden, you are in a rush. You did nothing that I am aware of proactively in the wasted first month of this year.

It was not me who has caused any delay.

Joe told me that this would be handled after New Years. Nothing happened in January. Phone calls went unanswered and emails to Joe had never been answered. As stated in an email yesterday, the day you saw me at Catholic Charities, I had a set of references for counseling but deferred selection of facility to YOU. From that day until last week, well over a month has passed with nothing but badmouthing and vilification (now, there's a word for you to use!) of me to Dad. He is a captive audience and has received your message LOUD AND CLEAR. He has YOUR version of reality down real well. Unfortunately for Dad and myself, that story is nothing but a fabrication LOOSELY based on a true story but the "facts" are false. As you well know, a fact is only something that someone is willing to testify to. I'm sure that in your mind it is valid and I am lying.

Sorry to disappoint you but let's just say that, AT VERY BEST, YOU ARE INCORRECT! Incorrect about recordings, quantity of recordings, "doctoring" of the one recording, badmouthing (sorry but, explaining to a caseworker or other involved parties about how my father is being verbally battered on a regular basis CAN NOT be made pretty).

You make dad out for a doddering idiot; he's not. Yes, he has big trouble learning detail; but his short and long term (broad and event based) memory and learning is intact, he has good access to his stored knowledge, and he has the ability to reason. Did you think I was dad's ventriloquist in the arbitration hearing or at any time? Let him speak for himself...

. Thank you for having the ability to recognize that Dad is capable of self determination. If you portray to him that I am treating or have treated him in any way other than loving care then that is yet another example of your vilification and badmouthing (sorry for using "badmouthing, your pet word but, you steal my lines so often you should be glad I don't have a copyright on them) of me.

YOU HOWARD, NEED TO CLEAN UP THE BULLS HIT YOU HAVE BEEN SPREADING ABOUT ME AND PEOPLE ASSOCIATED WITH ME.

In response to your complaint, Joe Kerouac (CC and Dept. Aging) came to the house. He privately interviewed dad, looked at the setting, felt dad "had his marbles;" the rest is history. We had no preknowledge that you had "reported" me, that a caseworker would make an inspection and interview, nor time (even if I wanted to) to prepare for anything. In fact, dad was in the washroom when Joe arrived, a fact I did not know. Joe is a college professor, not a dummy. Your complaint was determined to be UNFOUNDED.

Once again, as I stated in my email yesterday, Joe told me that the case of abuse was founded . . .I'm not going to retype it, refer to that email. .

Recordings. That you changed the recordings, you admitted. And with a copy of Cooledit (Google the word; the program has fantastic audio file capability), one can do anything with audio files, from cutting and pasting pieces of words, creating repetition, changing voice pitch, timing, etc.). Quite honestly, I don't trust your word that anything is "original", whether dated or not, nor comprehensive. It's all changeable, and you know how to do it and have the tools.

But your reputation on secret recordings precedes you. Ask Jennifer, CJ, both your ex-wives, and quite a few others, even perhaps some of the carbon-copied recipients.

Great Idea! Why don't you ask them? You have called many of my friends and acquaintances more than once. You have also called people that I do not know but somehow they have your dossier on me as to my abilities and how you have been wronged. One at a time: Jennifer NEVER had any direct encounter with surveillance and me, only rumors.

CJ, is aware of my abilities and is learning well, including legal ramifications and consequences, He has been with me when I was approached for my services to monitor a wife. I responded with "no, if you record things you will only hear crap you don't want to hear. Back to your list, both ex-wives: Linda; why don't you contact her and ask her. She has given me many earfuls of you, most were quite entertaining like someone knowing the myriad ways to prepare canned tuna, She did get a rather strong dose of recording when she inadvertently left me really incriminating information on a device - one of two I supplied to Cook County Sheriff's Police Officers that I was acquainted with.

Pam: early into our relationship I promised her that I would never maliciously record her in any way. Why don't you ask her?

Regarding the one and only recording, the only modification made was to increase the volume so it can be heard, the content is unchanged and the original file remains in the device, unaltered.

My friend, let's call her Sally, came to your house to change the bandage and dressing on my leg.

Being a good looking blonde girl in leather, on a Harley, you gave her a pretty good looking over.

"Sally" never made any police report about you raping her.

Why?

Because you did not do it, even though you have the equipment that may possibly be able to do it and she does not lie. Do you understand the concept?

Ditto for audio files and me.

Angryman you call me? Perhaps, for 30 seconds after I discovered you were recording, I was angry. So what? If I had a different personality, like Scott (your ex, Pam's), you may have been roughed up and the recorder crunched to dust. But I have nothing to hide; as I said, this house could have been a private "Truman Show" since 2002.

I think Angryman fits well and is far more polite than other potential titles.

LETS CUT TO THE CHASE HOWARD.

WHY DON'T YOU PROVIDE TO MYSELF AND OUR AUDIENCE A LIST OF PEOPLE I HAVE ALLOWED TO LISTEN TO A RECORDING OF YOU.

ALSO, PROVIDE A LIST OF VICTIMS OF MY SURVEILLANCE. SURE, YOU CAN MAKE A LIST OF ONE - YOURSELF.

LASTLY, PROVIDE A LIST OF DOCUMENT-ABLE OFFENSES I HAVE BEEN CONVICTED OF WITH CASE NUMBERS AND VENUE.

PROVIDE SAID INFORMATION OR KEEP YOUR RUMORMONGERING, VILIFICATION, AND BADMOUTHING TO YOURSELF WHILE TAKING THE GREATEST AMOUNT OF EFFORT TO CLEAN UP THE BULLS HIT YOU HAVE ALREADY SPREAD, ESPECIALLY TO MY FATHER.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND THIS? ARE THERE ANY WORDS THAT YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND? IF SO, WHICH ONES ARE YOU HAVING DIFFICULTY WITH, I WILL TRY TO BRING AN EXPLANATION TO YOUR LEVEL OF COMPREHENSION.

Howard, In my response to your lengthy email, I presented a few questions. I would like a response to those questions, conveniently copied below, in the first section of red text.

Just what is your response?

Don't misrepresent why dad is angry. Your secret recordings, especially edited way out of context (with Cooledit or similar program), even though disgusting, are absolutely NOT a significant, direct, reason for dad's being angry. This house could be a non-public, 24/7 "Truman Show" since 2002. I have zero to be ashamed of at any time if a recording or video is complete and unaltered. i.e. In context. What dad is angry of is that the recordings are proof to dad that you premeditated the whole 11-7-2011 grandstand, complete with your impromptu elder abuser accusations at me.

Once again, Angryman, the one and only recording was done as explained above, unaltered. In fact, the original file is still in the device. Why do you insist that anything was altered? What are you afraid of? Possibly others hearing you in an uncontrollable rant? Why don't you present him with the TRUTH instead of your paranoid delusions?

Dad is angry that he, the alleged victim, was not consulted as to whether he was a victim and that you dragged/continue to drag my reputation into the mud with your badmouthing accusations - even though your complaint was adjudicated as unfounded by the EACW. Dad is angry that you continue to try to convince him, in your telephone conversations, that you have proof he was being abused. That is why (ask him in a session) he has started hanging up on you. Reread the emails. There is very little on recordings. He is angry at being treated as an idiot, as you suggested in your last email.

If that is how you describe it to him, that is how he will react - big surprise. You easily put whatever "spin on words that you choose.

Once again, never the one to stand up for himself, especially to the person in charge, dishing out the environment as you see fit, no, he would not tell you. To me, he said "let it go, it won't do any good". My "attempts" at convincing him of anything are strictly YOUR INVENTION.

Now, please go over the next one.

Hello Howard,

It has been around 4+ hours since my last email and I am guessing that I may have your grudging focus now. You perceive yourself as blameless, impeccable morals, driven by the best and purest of human motivations and intent in regards to your tireless care of Dad. For the most part, I concur. The one issue seems to be that you enjoy being the one and only. Unfortunately, four point five months before your tenth birthday, I showed up, forever ruining your plans (not even considering Number 3 son whom you have safely tucked away) for being Dad's Number 1 and only.

In recent years, you encountered a sudden physical loss of family. I say physical because the emotional roots of what caused this event go back many more years. Sorry for bringing up the painful but, your family left you enmasse. No second looks back, no stragglers, no surprise as well. It was a move that took years of preparation as well as great patience to pull off. I am not an expert in the politics of your family. I can only go by personal observation as well as insider knowledge as provided to me by at least one member of that family.

Without generalizations of what led to this exodus, I offer a summation of how at least one member of that family group feels: The feelings are that you are a sick man with problems that needs help.

Once again, I am not a part of the group whose feelings I represent to you, I am just the messenger.

The members of this group care about you, there is still respect left in some. There is not any hatred. It is more a feeling of sorrow, disappointment and loss.

One event that I was a participant in as well as an observer occurred on the day of Dad's Omega birthday extravaganza.

What I observed regarding the event:

Dad informed me that you spoke with David. I later sms messaged David, saying something like "I understand you talked to dad. Productive? a meeting?"

Copying from my phone now he replied "Oh yeah? He told you?"

Continuing the copying of sms messages on my phone (my side has been deleted), he further replied to my messages, verbatim: 11/30/11 04:48pm "LOL. Productive? Ill say this: nothing has changed"

0454pm" Yeah. Whatever. I just dont care. U guys dont trust each other n thats the genesis of the issues. If people in this stupid family would ever find it worth their time to just consider things family says without anger it would be a freaking revelation.

7:05pm" yeah. I dunno. U all should support each other. I freaking hate saying negative things about people."

Fast forward a week: Dec 7 2:00pm "When did my dad tell that he talked w me? Also, what did he say about it?" I recall relating the timeline, talking to Dad at Omega who told me that you had spoken to David. He replied:

I honestly didn't even listen. I dont want any part in whether he talks to jennifer, u smearing his name n ruining his "business", etc. this is the reason he talked to me - to get me on his side. Not because we Havent spoken in 2 years. So Damn selfish." The quotes around business are from DHM. Further replies to me:

Dec 7 2:25pm "Yeah well I wasnt wrong when I decided to distance myself. U know, the more attention u give him the more he likes it. Stop fueling the fire"

End of DHM sms.

I agree. I am tired of playing the Blame Game.

Perhaps I was a little loud on Dad's birthday - so were you.

Perhaps I could have planned it better. Not easily done as there was never any plan - it was an event that evolved.

Whether you choose to believe me regarding Dan and Marvin does not in any way make their individual appeals to me any less true.

You were and, at other times, have been out of control. You could not stop your repetitive behavior if your life depended on it. Classic Borderline Personality disorder traits - I have worked in very close proximity to two people diagnosed with BPD. It is nothing to be ashamed of and people afflicted with it lead totally normal lives when they are properly treated for it.

One of the girls I know is quite intelligent, holding a job with significant responsibility. The other is sweet and intelligent and a good mom when she is under treatment and, when she has her period, she sometimes misses a dose or two of Wellbutrin and becomes a monster that terrorizes her kids and is impossible to communicate with - like talking to a human broken record. That is a trait I observed in you while you were hyperventilating, with bulging eyes, bright red face, repeating and repeating some phrase, unable to even comment or properly respond to me. I saw this on at least two occasions.

Go ahead, call me a liar. What if I am not?

Think scientifically. The answer(s) you have may not be correct and the god you listen to may be like all other gods.

Accept the possibility that those who care about you (myself included) may be correct in some way. Seek analysis, I did, 4 years ago. It didn't hurt me a bit.

Get well, you may still have a family, if the family has a father.
